Five Killed in Wreck of Train

125 Injured, Many Badly, In S. Carolina

Miami-to-New York Streamliner Carrying Vacationers Derailed

DILLON, S. C., (AP)—A 17-car streamliner, bound from Miami to New York, careened off the rails near here last night and piled up a mass of twisted wreckage.

At least five persons died. More than 125 injured were rushed to hospitals, many of them in critical condition. Rescue workers continued to probe the wreckage and officials said more bodies may be found.

Some of the injured lay for hours pinned in the shattered cars of the Atlantic Coast line's fast passenger train, the East Coast Champion.

Skilled rescue workers, called from their beds, used acetylene torches to reach the victims. Doctors crawled after them, giving first aid and sometimes operating on the spot to free the injured.

More than 25 ambulances, recruited from far and wide in this Northeast South Carolina tobacco section, maintained a steady parade to and from half a dozen swamped community hospitals.

Part of the train caught fire and the burning oil, emergency lights and cutting torches cast a weird glow.

The wreck occurred shortly before midnight, 2½ miles south of Dillon, 12 miles south of the North Carolina line and only about 25 miles from Rennert, N. C., where two ACL passenger trains crashed Dec. 16, 1943, killing 72 persons.

Beatty Will Challenged By 16 Relatives

Ask Court To Set Aside Will Leaving Fund for Animals

A petition asking that the last will and testament of Mrs. Olive A. Beatty, which was admitted to probate in December, be set aside was filed Friday in Common Pleas Court by 16 persons who claim they are Mrs. Beatty's heirs at law and next of kin.

Mrs. Beatty in the last will and testament admitted to probate left a fund of approximately $37,000 for the "purpose of providing aid to animals of all kinds, particularly cats and birds."

The Marion woman, who lived at 202 S. Vine St., died Oct. 29, 1952, at the age of 84. She left an estate appraised at $59,342, bequeathing $20,000 to St. Paul's Episcopal Church, $1,000 to Robert A. Axe, $500 to Mrs. Helen Hilling, and $500 to Mrs. Hazel Lee. Axe was her neighbor and friend, Mrs. Hilling had been Mrs. Beatty's nurse for several years, and Mrs. Lee also had cared for her.

Questioning the validity of the will are Susan Freshwater Brown of Dublin; Lenora Freshwater Jones, David E. Freshwater, Clarence Lane, and Elinor Mooney Hubbard of Plain City; Faltitha Williams Thomas of Powell; Jeanette Williams Monska of Delaware; George Freshwater, Ruth Lane Howard, and Grace Lane of Columbus; William Wollpert of Marysville; Emily Jane Mooney of Cincinnati; Otto Mooney Jr., Emily Mooney Thompson, and Jane Mooney Jones of Birmingham.

Handful Made Happy but Thousands Must Wait

Tears of Joy and Grief Flow in Homes of POWs

By The Associated Press

Tears of sheer joy or inconsolable grief?

Both flowed freely last night in the homes of more than 2,000 American prisoners of war as 35 sick and wounded but wisecracking GIs were freed by the Communists in Korea.

Sgt. Orville R. Mullins:

"Everyone went slightly nuts." Miss Coran Mitchell's elation was tempered somewhat. She would have to tell her brother Walter that his father had died during the soldier's internment.

Some had never heard whether their sons and husbands were alive until last night. They had been reported missing—then silence.

Includes 35 Americans

Second Group of 100 Jubilant U.N. Prisoners Returned to Freedom

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—A second group of 100 disabled but jubilant Allied prisoners came back from North Korean prison stockades today as the 30 Americans exchanged Monday landed in Japan on their way home.

Many of the American and other United Nations prisoners who rolled through Freedom Gate today were laughing and joking, in sharp contrast to the solemn air of those freed as the exchange of sick and wounded began yesterday.

But today's group of 35 Americans, 12 British, 3 Turks and 50 South Koreans told also of seriously sick and wounded comrades still in Red prison camps and of death marches over frozen highways during the bitter winters of 1950, 1951 and 1952.

The Reds have said they would exchange 100 South Koreans for 350 North Koreans and 150 Chinese Communists tomorrow, leaving 55 Americans the Reds have promised to free still in Communist hands.

All of the 605 disabled United Nations and South Korean captives to be freed by the Reds are to be exchanged by Saturday, the day full-scale armistice negotiations are to be resumed.

Some 5,800 North Korean and Chinese sick and wounded will be back in Communist hands by May 1.

Allied reconnaissance planes today spotted a convoy of Communist trucks and ambulances carrying more sick and wounded prisoners toward Panmunjom. Shortly after noon it was moving between Sariwon and Sohng, 50 to 75 miles north of Kaesong.

A plane carrying 36 Americans and other Allied sick and wounded from Korea landed Tuesday at

The sun broke through the clouds as the first British trooper, Pvt. George Chambers, stepped out and started to clown.

"Any Limeys out there," he called.

Another member of the almost decimated Gloucestershire Regiment yelled:

"Any scotch out there?"

There was no burr in his voice.

Gas Supply Too Low For More Units

So Says Ohio Fuel In Asking Ban on Further Gas Heat Equipment

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Complete restriction against additional approval for gas space heating equipment in the 361 communities it serves was asked today by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves Marion and 360 other communities in the state.

W. T. Shinholser, the company's vice-president and chief engineer, made the request as the state utilities commission opened the 12th in a series of hearings reviewing the natural gas situation in Ohio, the Associated Press reported.

Shinholser estimated a peak-day natural gas deficiency next winter of 65,900,000 cubic feet. He said

Describe Red Brutality, Starvation

Say Many More Sick Allied Soldiers Still In Red Prison Camps

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Accounts of Bataan-style death marches, semi-starvation and calculated brutality came today from the second handful of Allied soldiers returned from Communist prison camps.

And stories of many more dangerously ill Allied soldiers still in Red captivity indicated the Communists do not plan to free all sick and wounded as they had agreed to do.

Today's reports recalled the shocked words "incredibly small" uttered two weeks ago by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, the U. N. truce delegate, when the Reds told him 600 sick and wounded would be repatriated.

The new development suggested that the Communists were failing once again on a solemn agreement.

Sgt. Walter H. Mitchell of Greenville, Tenn., said, "There were quite a few left in the hospital at the Pyoktong camp. . . . I would rather they had come than me. . . . They needed medical attention more."

The returned prisoners said treatment improved after the truce talks started in July, 1951, but varied since with the ups and downs of the negotiations.

Death marches over frozen highways in bitter winter weather were reported by two American soldiers, Pfc. Roger Herndon of Jacksonville, Fla., and Cpl. Orville R. Mullins of Covington, Ky., told of separate agonies in 1950 and 1951.

Herndon was captured in the frigid winter of 1950. He said some Roaring northward through the night, the train carried an estimated 300 passengers, many of them vacationers returning from a winter in Florida.

The seriously injured engineer, B. B. Sweeney of Rocky Mount, N. C., told Sheriff Pete Rogers he didn't know what happened. He said a freight train covered the same stretch only 10 minutes before the Champion derailed.

The train's fireman, Charlie Hunt, also of Rocky Mount, died in his flaming locomotive. His body was cut out with torches.

Five coaches, seven Pullmans, two diners, two lounge cars and a baggage car comprised the streamliner. Eleven overturned and six remained upright.

Dozens of passengers were trapped in the overturned cars. Joe Dabney of the Florence Morning News, one of the first reporters at the scene, said the five day coaches on their sides "apparently are full of passengers unable to get out."

Mrs. Frank Hicken of Springfield, Mass., lay pinned in the wreckage for nearly five hours. She joked with her rescuers until a doctor reached her with a hypodermic. She was dug out from beneath a car at 4:12 a.m. and taken to a hospital.

A surgeon was lowered into one of the telescoped coaches to cut off the left leg of a woman in an effort to free her.

Dabney said: "In one coach I saw three people pleading for help. It seemed impossible that anything could be left of the legs of any of them."

"Wonderful first aid assistance was given by several sailors who were in the seven passenger cars behind the locomotives."

Darwin Gardner of Boston who was in the last car, said: "There were three bumps and then it sounded like an earthquake just before we left the track."

Philip McCabe, sailor from the Parris Island, S. C., Marine recruit depot, reported there were four dead in his Pullman.

Dabney said he counted six dead, one of them a Negro porter whose body was removed only after two men worked 30 minutes with axes.

Marion Twp. Zoning Group Organized

The Marion Township trustees last night created a five-man zoning commission to set up zoning rules governing use of non-agriculture land in the township.

The rules the commission formulates will be subject to approval of the trustees and later the voters of the township.

Appointed to the commission were Dr. J. W. Bull, five years, Ferdinand Lawrence, four years, Howard Click, three years, Clyde Beaver, two years, and Reid Ep-ley, one year.

Purpose of establishing zoning regulations in the township is to protect residential property from loss of value due to encroachment of undesirable business or industry, and to maintain such public buildings as the new hospital in desirable surroundings, its proponents say.

The zoning rules will not affect land used for agricultural purposes. Robert G. Burton, one of the three township trustees, said. Only when agricultural lands are to be diverted to other purposes, such as housing developments or for business or industry, will they be affected.

After conducting hearings on zoning, drawing up maps, and formulating rules of zoning and procedure, the commission will submit its plan to the trustees for their approval. If approved, the plan will be certified to the board of elections to be placed on the ballot for approval of voters.

The new commission will meet with trustees in the township hall at 115½ S. Main St. Thursday night to begin work on the zoning plan.

A five man appeals commission to hear appeals from rulings of the commission, will probably be appointed within a month, the trustees said.

rol of important research agencies.

Before the 33-member Senate was a bill sponsored by Majority Leader C. Stanley Meachem (R-Athens) and Sen. Donald Rolf (R-Hamilton).

The measure would combine the functions of the Legislative Research Bureau, the Code Revision Commission and the Ohio Program Commission into a single bureau. A last-minute amendment excluded the reference bureau from the merger.

The Republican-dominated Legislature has differed on many occasions with conclusions of the Ohio Program Commission, a fact-finding group controlled by law by appointees of the governor. Because Gov. Frank J. Lausche is a Democrat, many commission recommendations have been contrary to Republican beliefs and policy.

Also on the Senate calendar today is a vote on a House-approved emergency measure to appropriate $300,000 for a new exhibition building at the Ohio State Fairgrounds. Backers of the bill say the new building can be ready for the next state fair in August.

A House Public Affairs Subcommittee, which had expected to unveil its proposed Republican highway program for the next two years, was unable to muster a quorum during a busy night of legislative hearings. It postponed action.

The Senate Education Committee held a first hearing on a bill to repeal the state's controversial movie censorship law. It is sponsored by the committee chairman, Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain), a newspaper publisher. He contends any abridgement of freedom in one type of mass information.

GALION—The mother of a 19-year-old Galion serviceman is anxiously awaiting news from somewhere concerning her son, a Red prisoner of war for the past two years.

Pfc. Charles C. Vanderkooi's mother, Mrs. George W. Vanderkooi, N. Market St. road, Galion, lives each day in a hope that one of the 30 Americans freed in the exchange of war prisoners at Panmunjom, might have some word about her son.

Detroit Soldier Freed

A Galion Red Cross worker told the Galion mother that a Detroit, Mich., soldier, one of the first 30 Americans freed in the exchange, might know something about the Galion boy. Cpl. Kenyon L. Wagner of Detroit was captured by the North Korean and Red Chinese on May 18, 1951, the same day that Vanderkooi, also a member of the Second Infantry Division, was taken.

Young Vanderkooi had been in the service for five months when he was flown from Seattle, Wash., to Korea on Sept. 21, 1950. He was stationed with the 24th Cavalry for his initial service in Korea and then sent to a rest camp. Trust-Buster F. S. Monnett Dies at 96

Ohio's Oldest Lawyer Spent Boyhood In Kenton and Bucyrus

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Frank S. Monnett, trust-busting Ohio attorney general of the 1890s, died today at his Columbus home. He was 96.

Monnett was the oldest practicing attorney in Franklin County—perhaps in the nation.

The Columbus attorney won his reputation in a fight against oil company monopolies. One of his first acts after his election as Ohio attorney-general in 1896 was to take action against the Standard Oil Co. in the Supreme Court.

He charged that, although various companies making up Standard Oil had agreed to dissolve, they merely organized into several subsidiaries. Monnett said they still were squeezing smaller companies out of business.

He was able to get the legislature to pass the Stewart-Valentine anti-trust act. He was a Republican. But, he became unhappy when his successor in office allowed the trust fight to drop.

So, when William Jennings Bryan, running for president on the Democratic ticket, asked Monnett to take charge of the anti-trust angles of his campaign, he accepted.

During the administration of President McKinley, Monnett served as an interstate commerce commission attorney and continued his anti-trust fight.

He campaigned for lower street car fare successfully.

Despite his advanced age, Monnett made regular visits to his office. He paid a call there March 19, his birthday, but bad weather kept him at home in recent days.

Monnett was born at Kenton, and spent most of his boyhood on a farm near Bucyrus. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1880 and from National Law School at Washington, D. C., in 1882.

Tachikawa airbase, near Tokyo. Air Force officials said there will be daily flights until all U. S. prisoners are in Japan on their way home.

Twelve of the Americans flown to Japan Tuesday were carried from the big transport on litters. Newsmen at the airbase were not permitted to interview them.

In the Panmunjom neutral zone between two warring armies even the weather was more cheerful as the exchange of sick and wounded captives went through the second day.

The second batch of 500 disabled Chinese and North Koreans appeared a little less grumpy than yesterday's 500 as they headed north through a brand new arch erected by the Reds to match the Allies' Freedom Gate.

The Communist arch was emblazoned with Chinese characters proclaiming "Long Live the Chinese Peoples' Republic! Long Live the Korean Peoples Democratic Government!"

The smaller U. N. gate bears the simple slogan:

"Welcome—Gate to Freedom." United Nations prisoners who came back Tuesday, while jubilant over their release, told soberly of pain and suffering among comrades left behind.

The first ambulance to pull into the neutral zone Tuesday was loaded with Allied prisoners shouting and wisecracking. The first man out was Pfc. Paul O. Blanton of Broadhead, Ky. The second was Pvt. John M. Jankovits Jr. of Philadelphia.

Inhalator Crew Called To Aid Attack Victim

The city Fire Department inhalator squad worked for five hours and 10 minutes Monday on Mrs. Harriett Ludwig, of near Marion, after they were called to Marion City Hospital at 10:25 a.m.

Firemen, Robert McCombs and Gerald Jennings answered the call to the hospital, where Mrs. Ludwig had been admitted about an hour earlier after she was stricken at her home. Attending physicians reported she was unconscious from a brain pressure and the inhalator was required to restore respiration.

The inhalator was used continually while Mrs. Ludwig was being removed in a Boyd ambulance to University Hospital, Columbus, and for over an hour after her arrival there at 3 p.m. She was then placed in an iron lung.

Columbus hospital officials said today that Mrs. Ludwig has not yet regained consciousness and her condition is described as "serious."

there was no additional gas supply in prospect that would change the situation this year.

Shinholser said the company's estimate had been prepared on the assumption the same restrictions as requested by Ohio Fuel would be in effect in the area served by Ohio Fuel's 24 wholesale customers. These include Cincinnati, Dayton, Lima, Delaware and Lancaster.

Ohio Fuel, an affiliate of Columbia Gas System, serves 553,000 retail customers in 361 communities in 49 Ohio counties.

It gets about 90 per cent of its gas from out-of-state companies, most of them in the southwest. Shinholser said it had been impossible to get increased peak-day supplies from southwest sources.

Ohio Fuel also told the commission peak-day deficiency for the entire Columbia system has been estimated at 193 million cubic feet. He added it was the intention of other companies in the system to ask for restrictions in their states similar to those asked by Ohio Fuel.

Representatives of other Ohio gas companies were to give their estimate of gas supplies and customer situations during the day. Shinholser said to protect service to homes, it would be necessary to curtail deliveries to industrial plants on peak days.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. serves 11,000 customers in Marion and Marion County. A spokesman for the company said today about two-thirds of this number are customers who heat their homes with gas.

He said in the past three years an estimated 400 new gas heating units had been added in the county. At present the local office has a waiting list of around 1,300 wanting to install gas furnaces, he said.

Fire Hits Freight Car In Power Shovel Yards

A fire of undetermined origin caused approximately $100 damage to a freight car loaded with wooden boxes and crating at the Marion Power Shovel Co. yards last night, according to Fire Chief O. A. Sifritt.

Engines from the W. Center St. and central fire stations extinguished the blaze which was confined to the load of empty boxes. The blaze occurred at 9:15 p.m.

Traffic Light To Be at Mark, Greenwood Sts.

In a story concerning the proposed installation of five new traffic lights in the city which appeared in Monday's Star it was reported one of the school lights would be located at E. Mark St. and N. Grand Ave. This was an error. Location of this light will be E. Mark and N. Greenwood Sts.

40 American and Turkish soldiers perished in a nine-day forced march north from Kunu, where the U. S. 2nd Division met disaster in November, 1950.

Of 100 men who started, only 60 arrived at the Red prison, he said, and related:

"We were not allowed to stop for any cause—not even to go to the latrine. If you did, you would have to look out for yourself."

"One night 17 of us were put in a small room. Next morning when I woke up there were only two living."

Herndon, who had a wounded hand amputated by Chinese doctors eight days before the march, said many died from pneumonia. He said all they had to eat on the march was "millet and cracked corn. . . . one bowl a day."

Herndon just laughed when asked if attempts to indoctrinate him in communism had worked.

"I've never been so happy as to reach freedom today," he said.

Mullins told of a march north from Pyongyang in August, 1951, just as the truce talks were beginning.

"We passed two jeeploads of Russian soldiers," he said. "They stopped us on the road and tried to get our guards drunk so they would shoot us."

Mullins said the Russians were armed and in uniform. He said he knew the Russians wanted the guards to shoot because "they made motions."

Sgt. Mitchell said about 20 serious hospital cases were left behind: "Medical attention was no good at all. Very few guys got any."

His story was confirmed by Pvt. Louis Kerkstra of Byron Center, Mich., who contracted tuberculosis.

"Some of the TB patients in my hospital were in worse condition than I was," he said.

"The way I see it, they took me because I was in a little better shape and knew we would hit the press first."

Treatment of the prisoners varied widely from place to place and time to time.

Pfc. Tibor Rubin of Long Beach, Calif., a Hungarian who spent 14 months in a Nazi prison camp in World War II, said Red treatment was better than the Nazis gave him.

"The Chinese treated us much better—I'm not Communist, but they did treat me better than the Germans," he said.

Cpl. Pedro Herrera of Madera, N. M., said he was bayoneted in the head by a prison guard but blamed it on a misunderstanding caused by the language barrier.

He was captured in November, 1950. On an eight-day march north, he said, "the wounded died from lack of medical treatment."

"The guards would take them

He said that after the initial atrocity stages, conditions in some of the camps improved.

Sgt. Albert L. Howard of Nashville, Tenn., said life in the camps "was pretty rough at first but later on it got pretty good when the peace talks started." However, the medical treatment was still "only fair."

Auto, 2 Trucks Crash Near Mt. Gilead

No Serious Injuries; Elyria Man Fined After Accident

A car driven by John J. Skok, 23, of Elyria, and two trucks were involved in an accident on Route 42, about two miles north of Mt. Gilead, Monday at 7:40 a.m., according to the state highway patrol report.

The southbound Skok auto veered off the road on the left side and in attempting to return to the pavement swerved into the left rear bumper of a northbound dump truck driven by Bert Hobbs, 59, of Cardington. The auto then slid sideways into another truck driven by William C. Holtzclaw, 36, of Akron, also headed north. The right side of the Skok car was completely demolished when it crashed into the front of the second truck. The Hobbs truck received minor scratches on the left rear bumper, while moderate damage to the left front bumper and fender of the Holtzclaw truck was reported.

Skok suffered lacerations on the left knee and hand, but was not treated. He was arrested for driving to the left of the center line, and after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead, was fined $10 and costs.

In accidents early this morning, James H. Coleman, 58, of London, drove his car into a ditch on U. S. 30S at the junction of Route 98, east of Marion. The mishap occurred about 1:50 a.m. as Coleman drove onto 30S from the state route and went off the highway on the left side. He was treated at Marion City Hospital for a laceration above the left eye.

At 2:30 a.m. today, John Jordan, 25, of Cardington, drove through a dead end on Route 602 at the intersection of Route 19, two miles west of Galion. The car struck a telephone pole and tore down 20 feet of farm fence as it crashed into the ditch on the other side of Route 19. Jordan was taken to Galion City Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the forehead. The right rear fender, trunk, rear bumper and right front door of the car were extensively damaged.

Slippery roads Monday morning caused at least one highway accident investigated by the patrol. Ray J. Deal 22 of Hickory, N.C.

Taxes and Politics

An old conundrum which no one has yet answered, not even the scientists or the theologians who have an answer for everything, is which came first, the chicken or the egg?

SOKOLSKY

I am minded of this in the discussing concerning budgets and taxes. Some very wise men say that there can be no tax cut until the budget is balanced. Other equally great minds say that governments are like sponges; they can absorb all the money that is given to them; they swell up on the additional revenue, growing ever larger.

Therefore, a ceiling must be put on governmental income; otherwise, expenditures will not be cut.

The Republicans are in the awkward position that having promised a tax cut in the course of the campaign, they are unwilling to be pushed into what they regard as precipitous action.

THE PRESIDENT and his secretary of the treasury prefer to balance the budget before they announce a tax cut. On the other hand, members of Congress who will be up for re-election in 1954 realize they must have a cut if they are to win.

Some strategists hold that the tax cut can be delayed until next January, with perhaps a retroactive period so that the cut will be felt by March 15, 1954 and will help to win in November, 1954.

Other equally competent strategists hold that such action will be too late and too small in amount to make much difference. They want a tax cut announced during the present session of the 83rd Congress.

THIS SITUATION is complicated by the actual tax cuts in Canada and Great Britain during the year 1953. The British cut is particularly embarrassing because that country is able to do it while it is receiving substantial American aid—an aid which is one reason why it is so difficult to reduce American taxes. In a word, we subsidize a British tax cut by avoiding an American tax cut.

This is actually what the British did:

1—Income taxes have been reduced between 5 and 17 per cent, with the greatest relief to smaller incomes.

2—The purchase tax (sales tax to us) has been cut by a minimum of 25 per cent.

3—The 30 per cent excess profits tax will end next January.

4—Incentives in tax reductions will be arranged to stimulate production.

The Canadians have announced an 11 per cent cut. Both countries stipulate that the cuts are incentives to production. If they need incentives, why do we not need incentives?

It is a very curious situation because what it amounts to is that the Canadians and the British are acting with fiscal wisdom in a post war situation, while the United States maintains a wartime economy. Yet, American aid continues to go to Great Britain.

By George Sokolsky

FURTHERMORE, the American Congress is being asked to reduce its tariffs even to the point of free trade in order to stimulate European production while this country maintains an excess profits tax which keeps American prices high.

This particular issue is the most important before Congress and is being fought over among Republicans with greater vigor than appears in the press.

Those senators who do not come up for election in 1954 are willing to go along with the President's slow-motion program which they feel will come out all right in the end.

THOSE SENATORS for face an election in 1954, and all Representatives, cannot wait that long. When they go home in August, they want to be able to say that the U. S. Congress will do as well as the British Parliament. Few of them will be able to use the alibi that it will cheer the American heart to get a tax cut in time for the November, 1954 election.

The Democrats never promised a tax cut and therefore can evade the issue. The danger for the Republicans is that the Democrats might take advantage of the situation to advocate a tax reduction. No one questions the intent or purpose of President Eisenhower or of Secretary George Humphrey. It is a political matter of timing that is at issue.

Unless there is a world war, a tax cut is bound to come, but will it affect earnings in 1953, in 1954 or in 1955? Politically, the sooner the better.

Senate Faces Long Struggle On Tidelands

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) said today "we may have to get out the cots" for all-night sessions of the Senate on the controversial and long-debated submerged lands bill.

With the administration's legislative program facing indefinite delay, Republican Leader Taft of Ohio said he was considering a move to invoke cloture—a limit on the torrent of talk on the bill which has tied up the Senate for 13 days.

But Taft said that, at least for the present, he believed any such move was doomed to failure.

Millikin, chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, said in an interview he fears continuous sessions may be the only way to reach a final vote on the measure, backed by the Eisenhower administration.

"We may have to get out the cots and just stay here until they run out of talk," he said.

In the past, Senate cloakrooms sometimes have been filled with cots in which weary members could snatch a few winks while oratory droned on at night owl sessions.

Other measures are piling up while the Senate debates the bill to establish state title to oil-rich submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

bers the occasion. Complications soon arise when flowers start pouring in, among them flowers from a Dr. Gooch, a college friend of Mrs. Maxwell. The Maxwell children become alarmed and fear the old college friend is trying to win their mother away from them, so they plan to drive Dr. Gooch away.

Plane Plunges Into Bay; 8 Feared Dead

Stewardess, Passenger Rescued by Seaman In San Francisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A huge airliner carrying 10 persons plunged into San Francisco Bay with a roar and a flash Monday night—minutes after unloading 44 passengers at San Francisco Airport.

Two survived, four were killed and four were missing.

The crew of five and five passengers on the Western Air Lines DC-6B were on a short, low-level 10-mile hop from San Francisco to Oakland, last leg of a flight from Los Angeles.

The giant plane—one of the largest types of passenger craft—crashed at 11:08 p. m. in 15 feet of water in the southern part of the bay, about four miles from San Francisco and six from Oakland.

It was almost the same spot where a United Airline plane crashed in 1937, killing 11, and exactly a month after the crash of a Transocean Air Lines transport that killed 35 in a landing attempt near Oakland.

Bucyrus Woman Meets Brother After 42 Years

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—A Bucyrus woman was reunited over the week end for the first time in 42 years with her brother, Joseph McClellan, now a resident of Lansing, Mich.

The Bucyrus woman, Mrs. Leslie Pooler, met her brother at the Toledo home of their mother, Mrs. Mary McClellan.

Mrs. Pooler explained that her brother was born in 1909 and because of the ill health of their mother, he was adopted by the John McClellan family of Owosso, Mich. He was adopted in April, 1911, and that was the last time Mrs. Pooler had seen her brother until their reunion.

After the death of his foster-mother last year, McClellan learned for the first time that he had been adopted. A search for his real parents resulted in the finding of his mother in Toledo. The mother, who is 69, is blind and in ill health. The father died 12 years ago.

McClellan now has met for the first time three of his eight brothers and sisters, all of whom are strangers to him. He expects to meet the other five later this spring.

band of informed men is willing to say so publicly. He's the AFL sailors' leader, the jaunty, blunt Harry Lundberg, respected by the presidents of the U.S., the AFL and CIO alike. And admired by Sen. Taft too, which makes Lundberg quite a man.

Lundberg and the other insiders know that the British, working in the Hong Kong area with the sovietized Chinese navy and army, have promised harbors and naval protection to Greek and British cargo ships running into the enemy ports and transshipment islands.

AT LEAST 150 of these big freighters sail out of London regularly.

Many owned by Greek millionaires, operating under false front Panamanian, Liberian, Indian, Portuguese and other small nation flags and registries, have been arming the enemy for years. They carry cargo contracted for by such London trade agents as Otto Adler, a typical middle-man.

In January Adler spent two weeks in China. There he bought some $400,000 worth of furs and hides, much of which will be whipped into manufactured goods for sale in the U.S.

In return, Adler, the first British citizen to actually go to China as such a middle-man, promised delivery of medical, chemical and manufactured materials.

These are loaded aboard the specially chartered Greek and other vessels, which then run either to Hong Kong or the heavily armed island of Lapsapmei, between British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao. From there the goods are transshipped to the Communist Chinese mainland.

TO THESE ports also run some 40 Italian freighters, of American origin, as well as French and Scandinavian vessels. These ships are from 1,700 to 6,700 tons.

One of these freighters delivered 1,000 tons of steel plate, some 2 inches thick, on Feb. 18. It was unloaded on Lapsapmei, the largest of the Man Shan group of islands, and transshipped to the Chinese warplants by junks going up the Pearl River delta to Whampoa.

Sometimes this transshipment is completely ignored, according to American seafaring union sources. The ships go right from Hong Kong to major sovietized Chinese ports.

British companies in Hong Kong have said bluntly they would not yield their regularly scheduled services between Hong Kong and the sovietized Chinese ports of Swatow, Amoy, Shanghai, Tientsin, Chinwangtao and Taku Bar.

These are about 10 ships on this China run, which can move hundreds of thousands of tons a year right into Chinese Communist military hands.

THESE SHIPPERS have revealed as recently as Mar. 2, that the British admiralty has promised naval protection—the actual shooting of anti-Communist Chiang Kai-shek gunboats right out of the water — if the Nationalists interfere with this trade with the enemy.

Coupled with this pledge of British Naval protection is the Peiping fortification of Lapsapmei Island. With the full knowledge of English Naval Intelligence only 20 knots away, the enemy of the United Nations (which include British troops in Korea) calmly moved a unit of the 24th Regiment of the Communist 4th Field Army out of Taishan County, Kwengtung Province, to the Lapsapmei on April 1. And a regiment from Fumen, Tungkun County, and the 17th Regiment of the Communist Public Security Force were shifted to nearby islands for added protection.

THIS WAS done to guard against any possible raiding by either U.N. forces, or anti-Communist Chinese gunboats from Formosa. Yet the British, who pledged aid to those supplying the enemy, didn't move a tea cookie when this Soviet military maneuver took place some three weeks ago. Nice allies.

Nor did they move a winch when the Chinese Communist gunboats raced into British waters to seize three vacationing Americans, including the heroic Capt. Ben Krasner, of 11 Bragaw, Av., Newark, N. J.

Krasner had antagonized the Red Chinese by rejecting an offer of $20,000 in gold to run a load of guns, hidden under tobacco, into Macao, just across the river from Red China. The tobacco was for Portuguese merchants. The guns were for the front against our GIs.

So what good did the Greek government do when, early in February, it forbid all Greek ships, or those Greeks operating under foreign flags, from serving Red China.

They Resisted Indoctrination

Chinese, North Koreans and Russians also will be curious about efforts to indoctrinate prisoners of war, too. It can only be imagined what answers will be given by the 5,800 men being exchanged for the 600 U. N. prisoners at Panmunjom.

All but the feeble-minded probably will reply to their questioners that they resisted indoctrination. Otherwise, they would be subject to stern measures to overcome what had been done to them by their captors.

It is possible that some of the things they saw, heard, tasted, felt, smelled and experienced in the hands of their United Nations captors may have impressed them favorably. These they will minimize if they know what's good for them.

This is not an era to admit there may be anything less than reprehensible about human beings who live under alien banners and alien persuasions. Absolutism has become a way of thinking among millions who formerly were free to believe that honest differences of opinion were normal.

Among Americans who have reached Panmunjom in the prisoner exchange it is good to know from official military sources that there are no signs of kindly feeling toward their captors. But before exulting about this, it might be well to acknowledge that in all probability the Communist prisoners being sent back to their own people are showing no signs of kindly feeling, either.

Hearts on Guard

One of the most outstanding demonstrations of public service taking place in Marion in a long time will begin next Monday when members of the City's elementary school PTA will form a volunteer patrol to help guard school children against crossing traffic hazards. They are doing this because the city police department lacks manpower sufficient to do the school patrolling.

Forthright Policy Unified Allies

Whatever fears may have arisen that an appeasement policy by the United States toward Soviet Russia was in the making now have been dispelled not only by the challenging address of President Eisenhower but by the resolute, sharply worded and even tougher language used by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

The Dulles address is significant because a fortnight ago he was reported as having uttered at a private dinner of news correspondents some speculative thoughts which aroused apprehensions in the minds of many members of Congress that the foreign policy of the administration was weakening at the very moment when critical negotiations were about to be begun. The story widely published was that the Nationalist government on Formosa was to be abandoned and a "divided Korea" was to be accepted.

The mystery of that dinner episode is yet to be clarified but now Soviet Russia and Red China have been told publicly that to the Nationalist government the United States is "speeding delivery of military assistance which was woefully in arrears" and that the U.S. Seventh Fleet "is still instructed to protect Formosa."

This, incidentally, is the first clear-cut statement that says in effect — an attack by the Chinese Communists against Formosa will be resisted by the United States. Likewise Mr. Dulles talks of "the blockade of Communist China" as in existence and speaks of "tightening" it. He also warns that our acceptance of an armistice in Korea is based on the "assumption that it will lead to a peace which accords with the principles of the United Nations — and that means a free and united Korea."

Mr. Dulles made many other points that fill out and strengthen the principles laid down in the Eisenhower address of last week.

Thus it is revealed officially for the first time that administration policy on rearmament no longer is to converge toward what Mr. Dulles refers to as "danger at some early predictable date" and that our European allies and the United States now will base their military preparations on a plan that will aim for "substantial insurance against being overrun by Soviet attack" but with programs that "can, if necessary, be sustained for an indefinite period with growing reliance on Western Europe's own strength."

This means in practical terms a "stretch-out" for a number of years and a military spending pro-move of the kind which Soviet Communism has often practiced." This means there will be full steam ahead on all fronts just as if Moscow had not issued honeyed words lately. This is coupled with a warning that Japan, Indo-China, Malaya and Korea now face a "single hostile front" and that the United States, contrary to what Secretary Acheson said in January 1950, considers Korea to be a part of America's defense line against Communist imperialism.

For those who have been saying there isn't much difference as yet between the Acheson and Dulles policies the foregoing is worth pondering, as is also the sharp reminder that an armistice in Korea will be considered to be violated and "serious consequences would follow" if the Communists step up their military operations in Malaya and Indo-China as a result of the truce in Korea.

The speech draws together France, Britain, Germany and our Far Eastern associates in a common purpose to warn the aggressors that the United States and its allies "are not dancing to any Russian tune" and that "nothing that has happened has induced in us a mood of relaxation or any desire to weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Indeed, the moral support given the European defense army by both the Eisenhower and Dulles addresses is unequivocal and firm.

Even the "liberation" concept is stimulated — this contradicting those who have tried to read some significance into the fact that President Eisenhower didn't mention this in his speech and hence had abandoned the idea.

Perhaps the reason was that he had arranged in advance with the secretary of state to proclaim that, notwithstanding the partisanship into which the resolution in Congress denouncing the Yalta agreements had become entangled, the executive — as the maker of foreign policy — "has formulated his position." For the United States through the secretary of state says to peoples of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia that "we do not accept their captivity as a permanent fact of history." Mr. Dulles adds:

"If they thought otherwise and became hopeless, we would unwittingly have become partners in the forging of a hostile power so vast that it would encompass our destruction."

That's the policy proclaimed during the last campaign and it is refreshing to see it reiterated clear-

U.S. Ready To Drop Deal With Franco

By Kirk Henderson

MADRID — After two years of painful and protracted negotiations, the United States is on the point of calling off its proposed deal with Gen. Franco for American sea and air bases in Spain.

The Caudillo's bluff is about to be called by the State Department, and, realizing this, he still may have time to avert a showdown catastrophic for his long-term plans by adopting a more reasonable attitude in his bargaining.

Madrid today is seething with rumors that the United States ardor for a deal with Spain has cooled off and a worried foreign affairs secretariat is seeking a scapegoat.

The officials have chosen the obvious one—Britain—and a new and violent anti-British campaign dictator, like bigger ones before him, has overcalled his hand," a long-time British resident said.

"You Americans may be good poker players, but you are not so hot in pulling off a deal with a country like Spain. You were too eager, you let Franco see it, so you can't really grumble that he should twice raise his price when you thought the bargain was all tied up and ready for signing."

It has been learned on very sound authority that signature of the pact was ready last February. At the last minute, Franco asked for a much bigger amount of economic aid, and demanded offshore contracts which this non-industrial country could not hope to handle.

Another big snag, from the American viewpoint, was his pro-

Pentagon still would like to have a footing here, but they are inclined to agree that the time for a deal at any costs is past.

The Spanish road and rail communications system is so inadequate and outdated that a large part of any economic aid granted to this country would have to be spent in modernizing tracks and equipment.

Furthermore, now that Germany has come down on the right side of the fence, military leaders at SHAPE are advising against too much publicity for Spain as a defense base.

Just before the writer left Paris, a high SHAPE officer said: "It could be fatal at this stage if the Germans at Bonn got the idea that we are planning a defense line across the Pyrenees instead of Pending further developments in world affairs, there is something the unorganized duffers of America would like to clear up about presidential golf.

Duffers

1. There is no danger of hurting duffers' feelings by publishing the scores of Dwight Eisenhower's matches with such redoubtable opponents as Robert A. Taft. If both scores are high, the duffers will understand. If both are low, the duffers will understand.

2. There is no danger in hurting either player's feelings if there is a disparity, either. All the world loves a lover and all the golfing world loves a loser.

3. There is no danger, period. Golf is a game of chance in which a few players eventually learn how to minimize the risk and break 80.

The American people will not hold it against any topnotch politician for not playing under 80. On the other hand, if they had one who did play under 80, they'd make him an honorary member of every country club in the land.

Campaign Against Noise

In many communities over the somewhat strident country, Noise Abatement Week was observed recently, and those citizens who heard nothing about it at the time might be consoled by feeling the week also kept fairly quiet. One of the prime movers in the whole hush-hush activity, a bit too sluggish to be dubbed a movement—is one Ernest H. Peabody, president of the New York League for Less Noise, who has sailed for England without fuss or feathers to discuss his pet peeve—which is noise, any noise—with Lord Horder, another zealot for silence. Perhaps they would resent even this respectful mention of their plotting, even in whispers.

Before he sailed, however, Mr. Peabody spoke out loudly once more against noise, particularly street noise in a city (any city, he generously reminded) and especially the sounds of automobile horns. Such cacophony is driving him to an early grave, it seems, and he yearns for a magic wand which would silence every auto horn there is.

Visit by a Statesman

Reflections upon the activities and attitudes of Dr. Adenauer, chancellor of the West German Republic, since he came to these shores on what he called just a "thank you" mission, confirm that he is a man in whose integrity Americans can retain full confidence. At 77, when most men would be seeking the serenity of retirement, Adenauer is bearing with admirable resilience the pushing and pulling of pressure interests in Europe, yet strongly supporting American policies for Germany and the European Defense Community project given only lip service in some other quarters.

gram hereafter that is stabilized and will continue on a large scale no matter what Soviet Russia says or does in the near future.

The most important point disclosed by the secretary of state, however, was the announcement of how America has decided to treat in a long-range sense the Soviet peace moves. Here are the exact words the secretary used:

"But we cannot yet tell whether this represents a basic change or merely a tactical shift. It is prudent, for the present, to assume that we are witnessing a tactical

Something About the Weather

By TRUMAN TWILL

Outside, while this is being written, a snow squall is swirling and howling down the street. Pedestrians who had expected to be strolling in the warm sun are huddled in their coats.

Everybody is complaining about the weather, how vile and unreasonable it is and how impatient they feel about it. Gardeners, especially, are in a snit because they had expected to accomplish great things over last weekend.

Baseballers and fans are sore, because they have made up their minds that the weather should be suitable for baseball. It won't be suitable for baseball until late in June, but they won't admit it.

That is a point of realism always neglected in weather conversation—that too much is expected of it. The weather is not at fault. It's people who expect it to be what it never has, been, who are at fault. Good weather is the exception, not the rule.

The exception seized upon as a rule. Thereafter, after departure from the exception is regarded as something unusual when it is, in fact, merely the usual.

Bad weather in April is usual. April is one of the orneriest months of the year even as far as snowstorms are concerned.

May is not much better. It rarely produces a snowstorm, though it can if it wants to. But it customarily produces cold, miserable rainstorms.

In June, there is supposed to be an improvement. But the unpleasant truth about June is that it is dictated to sudden and frequent thunderstorms which knock out electric service and shatter trees and chimneys.

In July, there is a reasonable expectation of good weather, except that in July it customarily is too dry and hot. This gets steadily worse until the first part of August, when dogs go mad from the heat.

In the latter part of August, it either stays hot or gets cold, and this also is true of September; it either stays hot or gets cold.

October brings the first of the sheet storms. November is a month better left unmentioned in ly and vigorously. Indeed the whole Dulles address is so forthright that together with the Eisenhower speech it represents what the United States now is saying formally to our allies and to Soviet Russia.

It constitutes a positive and dynamic program. It embodies those worth-while principles for which America has always stood.

It supplements them with decisions that show an America unafraid to face whatever calculated risks may emerge from an invigorated and revised foreign policy.

New York Herald Tribune Syndicate

December would be too much to bear if it were not for Christmas. January is a time to repent of one's misdeeds and fashion a new life out of the fragments of a mispent old one.

February was made short because if it were longer no one could face it with equanimity. March is a hodge-podge of the worst and best of the seasons, with the worst dominating.

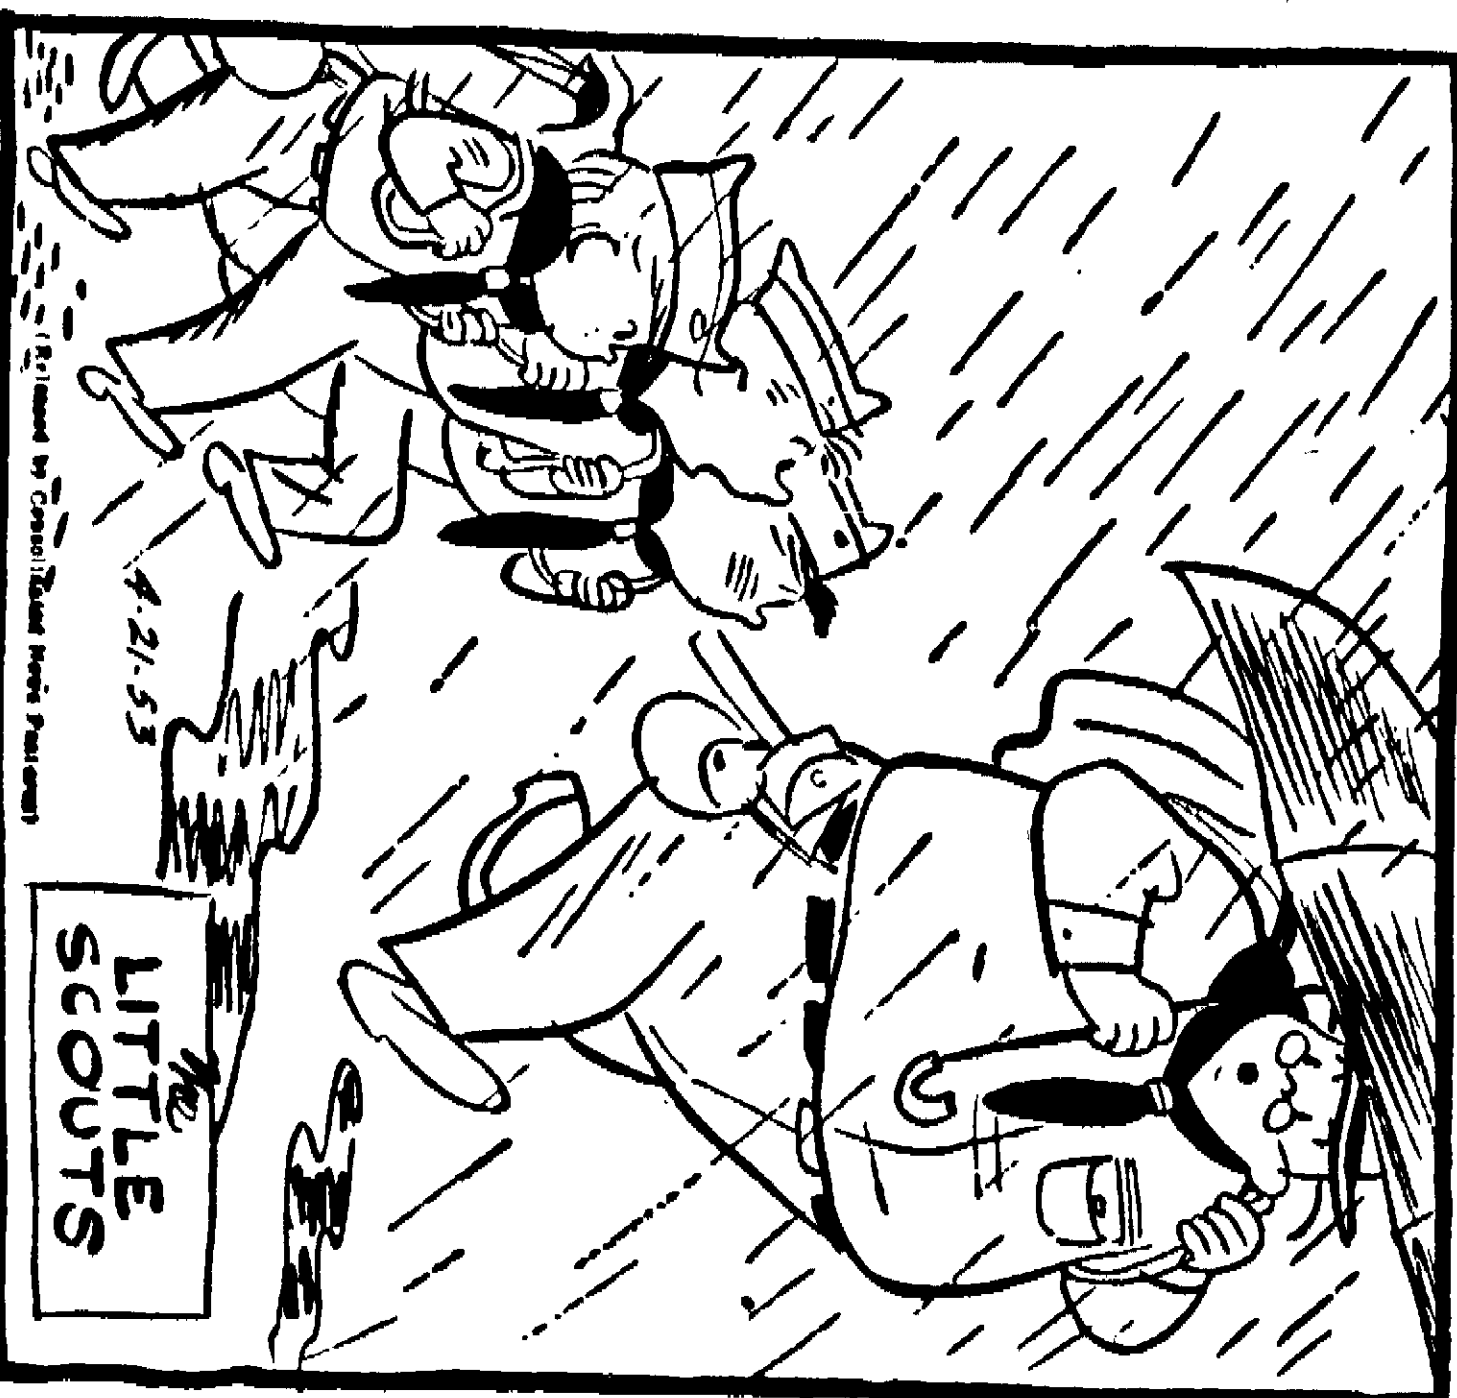

That brings the year back to April.

There is no time of the year when the weather is more than a small, pale reflection of men's large, bright hopes about it. They plan picnics and it rains. They schedule holidays and are held indoors by floods and gales.

They never learn to expect the worst and feel good if they get more?"—Psa. 77:7.

posals to restrict the movement of American personnel in Spain because Catholic leaders were hesitant about the influence they might have on the almost feudal state of life in this country. Needless to say, the Pentagon would not play ball.

In any case, recent developments in Moscow and the new "Peace in Our Time" line adopted by Russian Premier Malenkov have given rise to serious second thoughts in the State Department.

Though the official American line in evaluating Russian intentions still is one of the utmost caution, it is privately whispered in American circles here that the State Department is a good deal more hopeful than it has so far let out.

As a result, the last week or 10 days have given rise to a reconsideration of Spain's value from a strategic point of view. The

Kremlin Peace Motive

By Gault MacGowan

FRANKFURT

The major purpose of the spring peace offensive from the Kremlin—it can now definitely be stated—is to stop West German participation in the European army before it is too late.

Speculative reports that this was the intention of Premier Malenkov have now been confirmed. An intensive propaganda campaign to implement the policy has begun.

Marshal Bulganin, Russian minister of war, is understood to have advised Malenkov that with 12 German divisions added to the American, British, French and other NATO forces in Western Europe, a quick Red drive to the channel ports would no longer be possible—and, more important, that the resulting increased morale of the NATO troops would have a deleterious effect on the satellite armies and particularly on the troops under training in East Germany.

Malenkov believes he can halt West German rearmament by conceding general elections—under four-power supervision—to found an all-German parliament and reunite the partitioned nation.

There is little doubt that, given the choice between joining a European army and reuniting all Germany, a majority at Bonn would jump at the latter possibility.

East German Communist leaders through the People's Chamber and the upper house, Chamber of the States, have issued a joint appeal to all German people as follows:

"The agreements ratified by the Bonn Bundestag (the lower house) constitute a crime against the peaceful national interests of the German people and are a flagrant attempt to wreck peace in Europe."

along the Rhine."

The best guess in informed circles here is that Franco must climb down. If he does, an agreement may yet be signed, but not before midsummer, at the earliest, and, if it is signed, the most Franco is likely to get will be a total of around $400,000,000, spread over a period of time.

His latest reported demand for a boost to $600,000,000 would result in the whole deal being called off.

That would not mean that Spain would be forever deprived of American arms and munitions, but, instead of receiving special treatment from an ardent suitor, she would find herself at the bottom of a long list of other countries who also are patiently waiting for any armaments that America and American taxpayers are prepared to spare them.

North American Newspaper Alliance

The West German Socialists and the Communists voted against ratification. They are in a position to swing millions to oppose the European army and vote in the fall elections for reunion of the nation as proposed by Russia. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government would fall like a pack of cards.

Ex-Foreign Legionnaire in Hollywood

He's More Than an Actor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie heroes—the kind who can clean out a barroom with a few blows of their fists—are a dime a dozen in Hollywood. But here's an actor who is the real McCoy.

He is Peter Ortiz, former Foreign Legionnaire and underground fighter whose life could make a movie in itself. In fact, part of it did.

Last year, Warners took part of his life story and made "Operation Secret." That concerned his activities as a Marine officer in helping to organize French resistance. He wasn't too happy with the result.

"They did a lot of things I didn't particularly approve of," he remarked. "On the other hand, they did some things I thought were good. I had no control over the script. They had stipulated that I was to help in the screen play, but never consulted me."

It's possible that the scripters didn't want the facts to interfere. That's understandable, because Ortiz' life might appear unbelievable on the screen.

He told me some of his background on the set of "Arizona Outpost," his latest assignment. He is tall, young-looking and articulate, although somewhat reluctant to describe his exploits.

"I don't mind doing it to help publicize pictures," he said. "But I don't like to dwell on the 'hero' stuff. It's pretty old by now, especially with another war going on."

Ortiz lived in this country until he was 12, then moved to France, where his father was in business.

Being restless, he ran away to sea at 15. His parents persuaded him to return after six months, but that didn't cure him. A few years later, he signed with the French Foreign Legion for a five-year hitch.

"I had been filled with all kinds of romantic notions about the Legion," he recalled. "My father tried to dissuade me, but he finally decided the discipline might be the thing I needed."

Ortiz stayed with the Legion eight years and recalls the experience with fondness.

"The public has a false impression about the Legion," he said. "It is supposed to be filled with criminals. There are some criminals, but there are many others with different reasons for escaping their past. Some had escaped from Hitler, others were White Russians and other political refugees."

"I found in the Legion a spirit you don't see in any other fighting force, not even the U. S. Marines. Since so many Legionnaires have left their past behind them, they care little for the future. They expect to live and die in the Legion, and they will do brave things."

War broke out while he was in the U. S. He shipped out of Canada to rejoin the Legion, and his transport was torpedoed en route. That made him even angrier and he fought valiantly against the German blitz near Luxembourg. He was captured but escaped, later joining the U. S. Marines.

His linguistic ability suited him for underground work, so he was parachuted into Fortress Europa and operated with the OSS. After the war, he was discharged a lieutenant colonel with 27 decorations and 156 parachute jumps to his credit.

Ortiz was at his La Jolla, Calif., home when a call came to act as technical adviser on "22 Rue Madeleine," an OSS picture. He stayed on as adviser on war and Legionnaire films and turned to acting and stunt work. He enjoys it immensely.

No. 2: William I (The Conqueror). Ruled England 1066-1087.

Born: 1027 or 1028, illegitimate son of Duke of Normandy and a tanner's daughter. A cousin of Edward the Confessor, he invaded England after Edward's death and deposed and killed Harold II, who had made himself the king. He made one strong kingdom of England, previously many small realms. He encouraged the woolen trade and crafts, and forged trade links between England and Europe that ended its political and cultural isolation. From his time on, England was Anglo-Norman, not Anglo-Saxon. The English language has many Saxon roots because of the Norman conquest.

(1) An old French engraving of William I provides interesting details of the coats of mail worn by warriors of his time. William was killed by a fall from a horse.

William introduced "trial by battle" in disputes. Fate was supposed to favor the one who was right.

Vessels in William's invasion of England, 1066—a detail from the famous Bayeux Tapestry. William turned his warships into trading vessels and introduced British goods the breadth of Europe.

This is No. 2 in a series on the predecessors of Elizabeth II as ruler of England. The next will appear tomorrow.

State Health Dept. Prepares For Fund Cut

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The state health department today sharpened its financial ax in anticipation of cutting services to local and county health departments.

The cuts will be put into effect if a reduced federal health, education and welfare budget presented by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of the department, is approved by Congress.

Dr. John Porterfield, state health director, said the federal budget would mean Ohio will get 30 per cent less federal grants-in-aid.

This, he said, "would mean that the state department of health would have to go back drastically to our statutory services and would eliminate all possibilities of any additional services."

"Such a reduction in the national budget will mean that this department, which is supplied about one-half by federal funds, and local health departments will have their

Bishop Points Out 3 Paths For Christians

Speaks To Monday Night EUB Revival Service Congregation

The union Evangelical United Brethren revival service at Calvary Church Monday night was in charge of the Rev. R. L. Sutherland, pastor of Greenwood EUB Church, and prayer was by Dr. L. E. Ames, pastor of First EUB Church.

Guest preacher for the week of services is Bishop Fred L. Dennis of Dayton. Music is in charge of the Rev. A. E. Clark of the rural Salem EUB Church. Co-operating in the services also is the congregation and pastor, the Rev. H. V. Falor, of Oakland EUB Church. The Rev. R. W. Faulkner is the host pastor. Mrs. J. W. Baker Calvary organist, and Mrs. A. E. Clark are in charge of the accompaniment for choir and congregational singing. Each night at 7 preceding the revival service, a prayer meeting in charge of Mrs. John Ruth is held in the room at the southwest corner of the church. The choir meets at 7 in the downstairs auditorium. Attendance was 119 at the children's meeting Monday at 4:30 p.m. in charge of the Salem Church pastor.

In part, Bishop Dennis, said Monday night, "Jesus designed that His people be filled with joy. Fruit bearing is the acid test of discipleship. There are three things to mention about the way of Christian fruitfulness. First, it is a way of cleansing. It will pay if we go under the scrutinizing eye of God so that He may reveal to us that which is not right. Real Christians want to do the will of God, but first they have to be clear as to what is the will of God. This way of cleansing is not all done at once."

"Second, the way of discipleship is the way of companionship. We walk with Jesus Christ. Do you know anything about the burning heart? Is religion a cold matter of fact? Regardless of what may be your experience if you are you are never alone."

"Obedience is the third requirement. We need to call the word 'duty' back into our experience. There are many young people out in the world who may not be brought into the fellowship of the church unless their parents can be brought into the church."

The grace of God cannot save a child of saintly parents if that

Completed Plans Made For Annual Home Show

Completed plans were announced today for the fourth annual Home and Better Living Show, sponsored by the Marion Exchange Club, which is scheduled to open at the Coliseum Sunday at 2 p.m. and continues through Wednesday.

The Sunday afternoon session will close at 5 p.m. and another will be held Sunday night from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Three other such sessions will be staged on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

John Salisbury, chairman of the show, said today 36 merchants have contracted for space in the show to exhibit and demonstrate various products in 82 booths this year. This makes the show the biggest ever.

The latest products for home building, remodeling and furnishings for Marion home owners and prospective builders will be on display.

These will include the newest building material, roofing, siding, heating and air conditioning equipment, model rooms including kitchen, bath rooms, bedrooms, and living rooms, paint and accessories, gas and electric appliances, furniture, television, radio, drapery and interior decorating, floor and wall tile, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, storm doors and windows, aluminum and steel awnings and ornamental trimmings.

Also on display will be shrubbery, sporting goods and equipment, cameras wood working machinery, and boats and outboard motors. A feature of the show will be the many actual demonstrations of the products on display.

Booths at the show will be individually decorated in 22 different color combinations. The inside and outside of the building will be decorated with flags, banners and additional lights, and booths will have specially designed signs to denote the type of products exhibited and the names of the exhibitors.

Courtesy tickets have been distributed to all home show exhibitors. Holders of those tickets will be admitted to the show for 15 cents. Regular admission price is 25 cents. Courtesy tickets can be obtained by anyone planning to visit the show by asking for them from exhibitors at their place of business.

Planning the show in addition to Salisbury are Fred L. Schultz, Exchange Club president; and Harold M. Gram of Springfield, show director. The show raises funds to continue the Exchange Club's civic welfare activities.

Virtue Unrewarded In Filmland, Says Actor

someone whose reputation for wickedness is established and his following becomes immense."

Neau Accepts Wauseon Post

Special to The Star
KENTON—Paul L. Oakleaf, principal of Kenton High School will become superintendent of schools at Wauseon, O., July 1.

No contract has been signed but Merrill Bernath, president of the

there is a complete understanding about the job and the formal contract probably will be signed at a special board meeting there Friday.

Oakleaf, 49, will succeed Franklin S. Huyck, 57, who was not reired by the Wauseon board at a meeting in March. He had been superintendent of schools there for 18 years and a teacher in Wau-

Oakleaf has been in Kenton 15 years. He served six years as high school principal, one year as acting superintendent and eight years as a teacher. He is a native of Newcomerstown, O., and a graduate of Bowling Green State Uni-

Married, he is the father of two children, Jerry, 10, and Pamela, 8.

According to Bernath, Oakleaf will be given a five-year contract.
His salary will be $6,500 for the first three years with a renewal of the salary schedule at the end of the third year. Huyck was paid $5,400 with the provision that it be raised yearly until it was $6,170.

Bernath said more than 20 applications were reviewed before the board decided on Oakleaf. He made no direct application for the position, Bernath said, but was contacted by the school.

Great Lakes Survey Remains in Ike Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisen-

tact President Truman's recommendation that $50,000 be approand survey of the Great Lakes water level.

Nationwide, however, the Reget for flood control and navigation projects for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Eisenhower recommendations included three million dollars

Editors Write of Moscow Trip

Soviet Women Lead Drab Life, Newsmen Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two American newspaperwomen who visited Moscow said today they found life drab there, especially for women, and fringed with fear of being "contaminated by our philosophy and our freedom."

The two editors — Mrs. Jane S. McIlvaine of the Downingtown (Pa.) Archive and Miss Rebecca F. Gross of the Lock Haven (Pa.) Express — were among the group, headed by James Wick of the Niles O., Daily Times, which spent seven days in Moscow early this month. It was the first such visit since 1946.

The newspaper women, giving their impressions in a copyrighted interview published by the magazine U. S. News and World Report, agreed life in Moscow is costly, humdrum and — except for the ballet and a "most remarkable" ballerina named Ulanova — starkly devoid of beauty.

Both said they tried their best to be objective, found their Russian guides friendly and obliging, the people "curious as puppies," were quite sure they were kept under surveillance — and came away with a dislike of the sort of life Russians lead.

"One of the things that struck me most forcibly . . . was that some quarters of sending out "fatuous" reports.

Of Mrs. McIlvaine's report about the women prisoners, Simon said: "Speaking for myself, some of the things she reported I didn't see — and I might personally doubt if they could be seen."

Mrs. McIlvaine replied that, by slipping away, she possibly had seen more than others.

Bucyrus Betrothed To Marion Serviceman

GALION — Announcement has been received here by the Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Wannemacher of the birth of a daughter to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Barrett of Columbus. The baby was born Sunday morning in St. Ann's Hospital, Columbus.

Jobs for Vigilantes

Surprisingly, enough, I have found a job for those old busy-bodies, in both skirts and pants, who are currently running over the nation like v i g i l a n t e s, threatening to boycott such booksellers as stock Nobel Prize winner William Faulkner and his literary like.

Leave them do their hat-chet work on a new cook book, if such indeed it is, about to hit the stands. This tome boasts that it contains more than 500 recipes for canapes, the curse of the drinking classes.

If these illiterate busy-bodies will get to work on the canape book, they will, in the long run, save more souls—with bodies attached—than through all their present misguided efforts at infantile censorship.

OSCAR WILDE wrote in the "Ballad of Reading Gaol":

"By each let this be heard,
"Some do it with a bitter look,
"Some with a flattering word,

"The coward does it with a kiss,
"The brave man with a sword."

And, Oscar might have added, the hostess has achieved the perfect crime by perfecting the canape. That pause in the day's occupation now known as the cocktail hour comes when an anguished guest, with one too many raw carrots doused in whipped cream and chocolate chips under his heaving belt, takes his hostess aside and pleads for the bicarb. I will wager that more individuals have been boosted on the wagon by the sight of a canape made of roquefort cheese topped with thousand island dressing and sprinkled with chopped maraschino cherries and pistachio nuts than all the pink elephants in the alcoholic ward.

LOOK TO ROME, my friends: The decline and fall stemmed from her addiction to the public baths and canapes. At the present point in civilization to permit someone to publish a book of more than 500 canape recipes is synonymous to inviting Lucretia Borgia to tell the girls how she mixed her famed martini macabre or her two-drop diaquiri-two and they drop dead

By Inez Robb

Philologists, if they will only dig back far enough, are bound to discover that "canape" was an old Mesopotamian word for "garbage." Indeed, the canape today is the easiest way when it comes to disposing of household garbage.

The basic rule simply instructs the hostess to toss all odds and ends—rubbers, pencil stubs, corks, wrapping paper, last year's straw skimmer, modeling clay, anything!—into an electric blender, and moisten with store-boughten mayonnaise.

IN THIS WAY, the modern woman obeys the old injunction "to waste not, want not" and tidies up the hall closet and the ice-box at one and the same time.

The other day a friend sent me a can of new Japanese "cocktail snacks." They are small, round cylinders, obviously made of compressed sawdust and varnished with fish glue. I would feel safer if I were sure that is all they contain. And since their arrival I have been thinking long, long thoughts about Japan's real intent toward the Western world. This stuff could be the forerunner of another Pearl Harbor.

The canape holds out only one hope to the waiting world: It may yet lead men to temperance. Man will not willingly go on forever digging his grave with his teeth if he has to put up with that long, hard interim of ulcers.

Two Turks saluted smartly as they stepped down from the ambulance. They were greeted by the Turkish liaison officer on hand to speed them to Freedom Village, a tent city erected to give first attention to the warped bodies of the men on the road back.

The first 50 of the Allied trickle of 100 moved out fast. By a little after 11 a. m. the second 50 were emptying out of the Communist vehicles and stepping on free ground again.

They moved slower and were less jocular. All were given speedy medical care, food, cigarettes and a warm welcome.

The two teen-agers, one 16, the other 12, took the car from in front of 175 W. Walnut St. at 2 p.m. Sunday while the owner, R. O. Schell of near Bucyrus watched from inside the house. The Allied officers said Red spokesmen explained that it was all a precaution against Allied germ warfare.

PRESENTS CREDENTIALS

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen presented his credentials at the Kremlin today and told the titular head of the Soviet Union the U. S. government hopes all its differences with the Russian regime "may be settled amicably."

Sad Reminder

NEW YORK (AP)—The trickle of American prisoners now being freed in Korea is a sad reminder of the thousands listed as missing—who will never return.

Most of them were lost in the early stages of a war that will soon be three years old, and the nation owes them a debt it can never repay.

Today the United States has perhaps the finest Army in its history stationed in Korea. And as that Army has grown the sacrifice demanded of the individual soldier has tended to lessen.

It wasn't that way in the beginning. A few thousand soldiers had to serve as the spearhead of 155,000,000 unprepared Americans. And most of those soldiers are gone.

They didn't like the job they were given. Each outfit had perhaps too many over-weight sergeants, too many under-age privates who had joined the Army for security—not to die in an obscure peninsula called Korea.

Their resentful attitude was summed up by one:

"What business have we got fighting here anyway, and why do I have to be the one?"

They had no idea what they were going up against. They really thought it would be nothing more than a police action of a few days or weeks.

"We actually thought all we had to do was stand on a hill and show our American uniforms, and those little brown gooks would turn around and run right back where

Mt. Victory Woman In Washington Hospital

Willis Shuster of Mt. Victory has been called to Washington, D. C. by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Merle E. Shuster of Mt. Victory, a patient in Walter Reed Hospital. Her condition is reported critical. She was removed to the Washington Hospital from a Dayton Hospital four weeks ago.

headon. They tried to form a continuous line of defense, and there were too few of them.

They were shattered time and again, pulling their remnants back to a new hill and trying to form a new line. Each stand decimated them, but each stand slowed the enemy and gained precious hours and days that enabled the Army to rush over more troops and supplies.

The American people were shocked to see their troops defeated in the field. If they had known how pitiful small their numbers were, they might perhaps have paid more honor to those gallant few who truly saved Korea.

For their stubborn withdrawals forced the surprised enemy to pause, delay, and sideslip.

"If the Reds had really known how small a force they were up against," said a colonel, "they could have crashed right through us, taking their losses all at once, and had the whole peninsula in three weeks."

Some day the full valor of those over-weight sergeants and the green young privates will be known, and their terrible sacrifices appreciated. They were mostly regular Army men, and lying with them now is many a young West Point officer who would have been a general in 1975. The Army paid a heavy price in leadership in Korea.

There ought to be a way to recognize what these vanished men did for a free world, but how can you say "thanks" to ears that cannot hear?

his sister, Mrs. Christine McCordle, shouted when newsmen told her John was safe and would be home. "We had given up hope," she explained when they had not heard from him since he was reported missing in June, 1951.

"It's been 19 long months," an aged New York father murmured. He is Nicholas Picerno, 71, who was awakened at midnight by newsmen who told him his daily prayers had been answered. His son Joseph had been freed after 10 months. Another son, Phillip, recently was wounded in Korea.

"When will they let me know if he is all right?" asked Mrs. W. A. Fleming of Memphis, Tenn., who had not heard from her son, Pvt. R. W. Fleming, since he had been reported missing.

A happy but impatient Long Beach, Calif., woman asked a reporter to hurry and get off the line. She was Mrs. Irwin Rubin, who had a transatlantic call in for Sweden. Mr. Rubin wanted to tell his sister, Mrs. Edith Rittre in Malmö, Sweden, that their brother, Pfc. Tibor Rubin, was coming home after 2½ years in a Red prison camp in Korea.

"I sure was a happy man," said Wesley I. Todd of Alliance, Neb., in describing his feeling when he heard the name of his son, Lester, 19, broadcast as a returned prisoner.

A Black River Falls, Wis., couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Peterson, learned their son was alive and coming home. Mrs. Peterson said she had never given up hope they would hear from Pfc. Lionel E. Peterson, 21, reported missing last October.

The happiest man he ever saw, said Dexter Adams of Murfreesboro, Tenn., was George Heath. The reason, explained Adams, was because he had just told Heath that Heath's son, Joe, an infantry private, was coming home from a Korean prison camp. One of Joe's buddies wrote the Heaths he had seen their son killed in battle, but they had heard from him since his capture.

Newspaper reporters touched off a wild, ecstatic celebration at the modest home of Mrs. Bartola Garcia in Los Angeles. They brought the family news of the release of Pvt. Joe Manuel Garcia, missing and unreported for almost 2½ years.

Tiffin Farmer Shoots 4 In Family, Self

TIFFIN, O. (AP)—A 20-year-old farmwoman and her 2-year-old son were in critical condition today after her husband shot them and killed his oldest daughter, another son and himself.

The sheriff's office said George Neisner, 23, was infuriated over the break-up of his 5-year-old marriage. His revolver shots on his farm 12 miles east of here Monday brought death to him, his daughter, Darla, 4, and his son, George Jr., 3.

His estranged wife, Darla, 20, and son, James 2, were in Mercy Hospital here.

Mrs. Neisner had gone to the farm with her brother, Robert Grimm, of Gypsum, to get the three children. She had filed her divorce April 9 on ground of neglect and cruelty.

Ask Reduction In Size Of Ditch Project

Reduction of the size of the Heimlich Ditch project was requested by a group of approximately 15 landowners in a conference Monday afternoon with Marion and Morrow County commissioners and engineers in the Marion County Commissioners' office in the courthouse.

The $15,744 project for the cleaning, straightening and widening of the Heimlich Ditch, located in Richland and Waldo Townships in Marion County and in Westfield Township in Morrow County, was approved by the joint county commissioners in a hearing April 6 held in the Common Pleas courtroom.

Marion County Prosecutor Ralph Carhart explained to the group the procedure they would have to use to appeal the project would be to file an objection in Common Pleas Court within 21 days of the final hearing held on April 6. Final date for filing this appeal with the court would therefore be April 27.

tion medium infringes on other media.

Only proponents of the repealer were heard Monday night. They included James Ratliff, secretary of the Cincinnati Enquirer Co.

Referring to the censorship law enacted in 1913, Ratliff quoted the state constitutional provision against legislative action abridging freedom of speech or of the press and added:

"That is the basic issue here. We don't attempt to decide in advance by prior censorship. In the greatest country in the world—the United States—where we find liberty that has reached heights never aspired to before, we find an abuse of that constitutional guarantee dating back to 1913."

Other proponents included Sen. Robert Pollock (R-Stark), Mrs. William R. Thomas, Cleveland, member of the Motion Picture Commission of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs; Norman Nadel, Columbus newspaper movie critic, and William Wolfarth, director of audio-visual education in the Canton schools. Said Pollock:

"I'd like to vote on this as quick as I can to repeal this law. I believe it is the duty of this Legislature to right this wrong."

Opponents were scheduled to appear next Monday night.

The House Finance Committee, striving to complete its work on Gov. Lausche's $31 million dollar budget for the next two years, reduced it by more than nine millions Monday night.

It trimmed six millions from salaries in the state welfare department, one million in allowances for food for welfare department charges, and two millions from the fund for paying aid for aged grants. Committee members said the latter will not interfere with plans to increase maximum aid for aged by $5 a month.

The House passed, 104-1, and sent to the Senate a bill to help cities and other political subdivisions finance bond issues. The bill permits the charging of printing, advertising and other incidental costs against proceeds from the sale of bonds. Such costs now come out of a subdivision's general revenue funds.

Only five other minor bills received favorable floor votes Monday.

Among measures introduced was a bill by Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Belmont) to repeal the present state three per cent sales tax and replace it with a one per cent state income tax.

Sponsored by County Farm Bureau

Youth Problems Topic Of Panel Discussion

"Youth Organizations, Activities, and Problems" was the theme of the second annual rural-urban meeting of the Marion County Farm Bureau held recently in Wesley Methodist Church.

The panel discussion was preceded by a devotional service conducted by the Rev. William Reeves. Moderator for the panel was Mrs. Litta Roberson of Columbus, director of women's activities of the Ohio Farm Bureau.

Participating on the panel were Mrs. Lily Cooper, chairman of the women's committee of the Marion County Farm Bureau; Miss Lois Simonds, home demonstration agent of the Extension Service; Mrs. Mildred Schuetz, executive secretary of the Child Welfare Board; Miss Margaret Huffman, director of religious education at Epworth Methodist Church; Mrs. Cecil Gabler, school and YMCA activities leader; Mrs. Doris Maxwell, executive secretary of the Family Service Society; and Mrs. Max Sechrist, probation counselor of the Marion County Juvenile Court.

Mrs. Roberson, who introduced the panel members, opened the discussion by citing a few statistics on the increase of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Cooper talked about youth activities when they centered around evenings spent at home with the parents and when people went to various functions as family units. She traced the development of youth activities in the family to the present time when children devote "Only the odds and ends of time to the family and about the only family activity is watching television together."

Extension Program

Extension service opportunities were discussed by Miss Simonds, who summed up this program as "an effort to help farm families to help themselves have a more satisfying life." Extension activities open to rural youth include 4-H Clubs, Junior Leaders Club and Older Rural Youth groups.

The church was described as "the parent of all youth groups" by Miss Huffman, who added that cooperation should be the keynote of all activities. In the church of today, she said, youth have opportunity to participate in worship, recreation, social service, and world friendship.

"Because we are all so busy these days," Mrs. Gabler considered relaxation, such as folk or square dancing, necessary. In speaking of planned school and church activities, Mrs. Gabler thought it wise to ask, "Do we spend too much time doing, planning, and working for youth?"

The importance of what the individual gets from the group was pointed out by Mrs. Maxwell, who

Town Officials May Resign

Criticized For Traffic Arrests

ZANESVILLE, O. (AP)—The 81-year-old mayor, the three-man police force and the town clerk of the village of South Zanesville have threatened to resign because town merchants don't like a traffic-arrest campaign waged in the community.

The police have made 400 arrests in the last three months and have collected fines totalling $3,000. The merchants claim this has hurt their business.

Mayor Daniel H. Stiers said he and the police department will resign if the town council attempts to thwart the traffic arrests. Town Clerk Paul Scott said he would join the mayor in relinquishing his post.

Marshal Charles Elder said the arrests were necessary to keep the number of traffic accidents under control. He said the community has recorded two fatalities this year.

Purpose of the Juvenile Court is not in punishing youth, Mrs. Sechrist explained, but in helping them. In most cases, the cause for juvenile delinquency can be traced to the home, although punishing parents does not solve the problem either, she added. One of the biggest problems encountered in corrective work, Mrs. Sechrist said, is that "we do not find acceptance of a person who has made a mistake." Rejection is what brought him there in the first place, she concluded.

Members of Mrs. Cooper's committee were in charge of the social hour following the panel discussion.

Van Fleet Turned Down By Ridgway

His Plan for Strike By Sea Rejected By Allied Commander

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators have been told that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway turned down Gen. James A. Van Fleet's plan for an Allied seaborne strike against the Communists in Korea in June, 1951.

Van Fleet, then commander of the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea, recently told a Senate armed services subcommittee he was "crying to turn me loose" for such an assault, but that higher authority would not approve it.

Van Fleet, now retired, said he felt he could have destroyed the Chinese armies with the blow.

At the time Van Fleet gave that testimony, Ridgway said in Paris he had "absolutely no comment." In June, 1951, he was Far Eastern commander; he is now commander of Western European defense forces.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, testified behind closed doors yesterday afternoon to the armed services subcommittee, which has been investigating reported ammunition shortages.

Later, a senator who asked that his name not be used told reporters:

"Collins said the Van Fleet recommendation never reached the Joint Chiefs of Staff for a decision. He said Ridgway turned it down because he felt it was too much of a gamble. And, too, there was a lot of talk about a truce at the time which probably had an effect."

This development came after the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), called at least a temporary halt in its inquiry.

Mrs. Smith said her committee wished to "analyze and digest" the testimony already given before making a decision on any further hearings. There were indications the group might write its report without further testimony.

Would Have Forest Service Purchase More Land in Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) has urged a House Appropriations Subcommittee to approve enough money for the Forest Service so the agency may purchase more land in Ohio.

Jenkins appeared Monday before the subcommittee sitting in closed session.

The Ohioan said it would take only a small amount of money for the Forest Service to buy marginal land now going to waste; land that could be put to use for recreational purposes.

Jenkins told the subcommittee Ohio has fewer recreational facilities than many other states and that Ohioans must go to Tennessee or Minnesota for their vacations. The Forest Service has bought about 150,000 acres of Ohio land—mostly in the southern part of the state—during the past 10 years and has reforested a good deal of it in pine and white oak, Jenkins stated.

The state would cooperate in developing the newly-acquired land for recreation as it has in the past, Jenkins continued.

The Ohioan stressed the importance of protecting the purity of water in lakes already in use by vacationers.

To this end, he said, the Forest Service wants to buy land at the headquarters of Burr Oak Lake in Southern Ohio and to expand other holdings in the state.

Jenkins said the Forest Service hopes to buy more land in the

Quarterly Reports Optimistic

Business Reported Up

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A cherry profits report card is being handed in so far by American business.

The first 79 companies to issue earnings statements for the first three months of this year show their combined profits after taxes running 12 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Two-thirds of the companies did better this year than last. Of the 26 whose report cards are poorer, three operated in the red. Last year four of them showed a net loss.

The period for which the companies are reporting is the one directly preceding the start of the Kremlin's peace hints. The effect er manager of the local company, was honored with a bouquet of flowers. At 88, he was the oldest person attending the affair.

Company employees attending from Marion were Charles Sechrist, Charles Mitchell, Ralph Kaelber and S. R. Martin.

on business production and profits of the peace talks is yet to be recorded.

And this year's good showing is in contrast to last year's poor one. The first three months of 1952 business profits were trailing the 1951 first quarter by 9 per cent.

That 1951 first quarter, in fact, marked the high point of profits. From that quarter until the third quarter of 1952 profits consistently fell below their marks of the preceding year.

The turning point came last summer with the end of the steel strike. Profits climbed sufficiently in the last half of 1952 to all but erase the slideback of the first half, so that for 1952 as a whole business ran almost neck and neck with its 1951 profit performance.

A majority of business executives are predicting the first half of this year will show continued profit gains. Then opinion divides, with many still betting on the year as a whole but a sizable number looking for a slackening off in the final months.

The 79 companies who have reported to date are but a sampling of the multitude yet to publish their figures. And the 13 per cent gain, therefore cannot be considered as more of an indication of how things are running.

The companies are scattered throughout most of the major industries. They range from small firms to king size.

Together they show net profits after taxes of $170,401,027 for January, February and March. The preceding year the same firms had $150,382,448 net earnings, a gain of $20,018,579, or 13.3 per cent.

Part of the gain is chalked up to larger sales. Some of the firms show results in a campaign to cut operating costs. And some of them report tax savings—their gross income slipped just enough to let them off the excess profits tax hook and still leave them with a healthy net after regular income taxes.

The U. S. treasury is the loser. In fact, there is talk that corporate tax payments—especially as a result of last year's tax credits by many companies whose earnings slipped—are disappointing.

Treasury officials now fear the deficit June 30 will be seven billion dollars, or one billion dollars more than first expected.

Gernert Fills Role As Boudreau's Cleanup Man

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports writer

How often during the spring do you hear the plaint of major league managers:

"Just give me one long ball hitter. Then we'd show them."

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox doesn't have to worry on that count—he's got the long ball hitter, but not much else.

Young Dick Gernert, his first baseman, is just what the doctor ordered as cleanup man. He may not get many hits, but that inviting left field fence in Fenway Park is a fair target for his big blows.

The "Bobby Sox," as they're beginning to call Boudreau's kid outfit around the circuit, won a Patriots' Day doubleheader from the Washington Senators yesterday, 4-2 and 11-4, with Gernert clouting two home runs in the first game and one more in the second. He almost had a fourth in the afterpiece, but it went for a double, barely missing the center field bleachers.

Gernert is an interesting case. He batted only .243 after he was brought up from Louisville last season, but he had 19 home runs, good enough to lead the club. He collected 89 hits and 41 of them—almost half—were for extra bases.

Now he has picked up right where he left off in '52. In 21 times at the plate, he has made six hits—three home runs, two doubles and one single. If his long bill is to mean anything, though, Boudreau will have to get someone on base ahead of him. He batted in only 67 runs last year.

In yesterday's first game, both his home runs accounted for a total of two runs batted in. His first round-tripper in the second inning was the first Boston run after 19 scoreless innings. Mel Parnell, Ellis Kinder and Bill Kennedy combined to hurl a good game, though, so not much in the way of run-production was needed.

The second game was closer for seven innings. But in the bottom of the seventh, the Sox exploded for seven runs against the Senators, and got rid of Bob Porterfield in short order. Gernert's double was the big blow, accounting for three runs.

The St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Milwaukee Braves under a 13-hit barrage, 9-4. Steve Bilko, the

National Loop Takes Lead In Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—In case you haven't noticed it, the National still is the hitters' league.

That's nothing new, of course, since the senior circuit has led the American League in home runs the past six years.

But the results of the first eight days of the 1953 season again shows the National well out in front.

Including Monday's games, there have been 30 homers hit in the National League and 19 in the American. And look at the games played figures—only 16 in the National and 21 in the American.

Four teams, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds, Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Athletics are tied for the home run lead with five each. The Philadelphia Phillies, St. Louis Cardinals, Milwaukee Braves and Cleveland Indians have hit four apiece.

New Problems Confronted By Grid Mentors

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Bowling gained a new addict here last week. A friend of ours tried his hand at the sport for the first time and came away from the alleys amazed.

According to our friend, before his first crack at the lanes, "this game isn't a sport. It's duck soup."

Any one can knock down those 10 pins in two tries."

After shooting at the pins 220 times and managing to post a 92, he was convinced. In his 10 frames, our friend cut loose with three gutter balls, just one more than we threw, and failed to get a single spare.

After the game, the novice kegger admitted he had changed his mind. He formerly had thought of bowling as just a form of family recreation and in no way connected with sports or athletics. After swinging the 16-pound ball for a half-hour he admitted bowling required as much, if not more, skill, than touring a nine-hole golf layout.

He was panting a little and his thumb was sore but his viewpoint had been changed. He had been watching a woman on the next alley but was unable to duplicate her smooth approach and delivery of the ball. Since then he has become determined to learn the finer points of the game in order not to be shown up by "that woman."

We've noticed the opinion of our friend seems to be wide spread. Many persons refuse to think of bowling as in the same category with baseball, football, golf, tennis and other sports.

FOR THESE PERSONS, who look upon the game with disfavor and think it's a cinch to hit the 10 pins, we'd like to say try it sometime. You don't just walk into the alley and score a 300.

Marks Opening Of 12-Game Stand At Cleveland Stadium

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen doing the flinging, the league leading St. Louis Browns take on the Indians today in the opening game of a 12-game home stand.

Brecheen who is 38, won a two-hitter in the Browns' opener and lost, 1-0, to the Chicago White Sox, the only St. Louis loss this season against five victories. Bob Lemon pitches for Cleveland.

The weatherman said it should be warmer and Brownie Manager Marty Marion wasn't too pleased about that. He pointed out, with good logic, that "we've done all right in the cold."

The word on Luke Easter's foot is that it may be even longer than six weeks before he will be able to play on it.

Dr. Don Kelly, the club's physician, said the cast will be on at least four weeks, maybe longer.

OSU Fullback Shelved With Broken Leg

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Earl Bechtel, Ohio State fullback from Fredericktown, O., is out of spring football scrimmage and his fractured leg may curtail his activities next fall as well.

The 196-pound senior suffered a compound leg fracture Monday during rough and tumble scrimmage.

While Coach Woody Hayes is relying on Bobby Watkins as his No. 1 fullback, Hayes thought Bechtel could provide the power to spell him.

The training staff gave Bechtel a 50-50 chance of performing for the OSU squad.

Meanwhile, the other Bucks went through their training chores. Watkins, Howard Cassidy, John Borton and David Leggett tossed off accurate aerials.

Borton also performed well as a linebacker.

Be sure to ask to have it insured with a local agent, who will take a personal interest in seeing that you get good service. His bread and butter depends on that.

In the only other action in the majors, Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies evened the score with the New York Giants' Larry Jansen by setting Leo Durocher's operatives down with three hits, 2-1. The Phillies could do little with Jansen's offerings until Johnny Wyrostek hit a home run in the sixth. Then Granny Hamner broke it up with another homer in the ninth.

Weather Halts Delaware Races

DELAWARE—The NARC sanctioned stock car races scheduled for last Sunday afternoon were postponed until next Sunday due to bad weather conditions at the Indian Valley Speedway. All the favorites who competed at the Delaware track last season, plus some of those who have participated in two earlier events this year will be on hand after two consecutive postponements.

Curt Hoskins of Delaware, NARC high point driver so far this season, and Jim Church and Dick Decker, 1952 champion and runner-up, along with other drivers will join forces for its program Sunday. Time trials are slated for 1 o'clock, with the first of seven races scheduled for 2:30.

Adverse weather conditions have hampered progress on construction of the new quarter-mile oval being built inside the present half-mile track at the Richmond Fair-grounds. However, plans call for its opening about the second Friday night in May to continue on a weekly schedule through the season.

Old Mentors
NEW YORK (AP)—If you see a football player gallop off the field in a game next fall and promptly pull a different colored jersey over his head, or if he goes over and sits morosely on a bench apart from his teammates, don't get excited. He's merely trying to avoid breaking the new limited substitution rule.

When the Football Rules Committee went back to limited substitutions last January, it created a situation loaded with possibilities of confusion. The rule states that a player, once removed from a game, can't re-enter during the same quarter, except in the last four minutes of the second and fourth periods.

It further states "coaches shall be responsible for the legality of the return of players in any period." There's no requirement, as there was in the old days when substitutions were strictly limited, that an incoming player must report to an official.

Considering how often, during the platoon days, a harassed coach or an excited team wound up with 10 men—or 12—on the field instead of the regulation 11, it's easy to see how they could get mixed up trying to sort the ineligible from the eligibles.

Nobody yet has explained what happens if a player, illegally substituted, scores a touchdown or two before the mistake is detected.

So the same coaches who occasionally failed to count the players in their platoons are busy figuring out colorful ways and means of keeping track of individual substitutes.

In 26 Florida exhibition games the New York Yankees drew 123,780 fans. In 1952 they played three less games before 103,744.

They're a little on the scarce side. Sure it's a form of recreation, just like the movies, a poker game or television. But what is a round of golf, a visit to the swimming pool or an afternoon at the ball park? Bowling is also a fine game in which you compete against your friend and neighbors in an effort to roll a higher score or hook them for the "beer frame."

Just stop in at an alley some night and try for that 300. Maybe you can beat our friend's 92 and our (we won't tell). But we want to be there to see it.

Reds, Cards In Night Game

LOUIS (AP)—The Cincinnati Reglegs must be murmuring, "Oh, to be in St. Louis, now that spring is here."

It has been a rough go, weather-wise, in Cincinnati.

The Redlegs, chilled out of their last three games, arrived in St. Louis today for a two-game series with the Cardinals under the arcs.

Manager Rogers Hornsby has selected lefty Harry Perkowski to start against Eddie Stanky's boys tonight. Harry will face Harvey Haddix, another southpaw and a native Ohioan, who has already registered one victory in the young 1953 season.

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche's brother, Charles, is in third place in the 13th annual Vallos singles bowling tournament. The tournament has two weekends to go.

Charles Lausche's scores: 191-219, 269, 229, 178-206.

Don Veller, golf coach at Florida State U., is the former head grid mentor at the same institution. His grid teams compiled a record of 31 wins, 12 losses and one tie.

BOSTON (AP)—Japan's Keizo Yamada—a tireless, five-foot-two, 108-pound running machine—sped the fastest marathon ever recorded to win Monday's 57th Boston A. A. race from an international field of 157.

The 25-year-old Jap, who earns $30 a month as a mining company clerk, found the cool breeze and rugged hills just his dish as he swung rhythmically along to a sparkling 2:18:51 effort for the 26-mile, 386-yard course.

Never more than 300 yards behind the pace-setting Karl Gosta Leandersson in the first 19 miles, Yamada chose "Heartbreak Hill" to glide past the 1949 winner and Finland's Veikko Karvonen.

International League Begins 70th Season

MONTREAL (AP)—The international League opens its 70th season of baseball Wednesday with President Frank Shaughnessy alternating between predictions of a close race and jubilation over the timing of the season's start.

Thinclads in Busy Week,
Prep for Harding Relays

Harding's track team is in for it in a tie for 12th place in the a busy week preparing for the annual Harding night relays on May 2.

Coach Kenny Somerlot was scheduled to take his charges to Mt. Vernon today where the track team's string of 32 straight dual meet wins, three this year, is put on the line.

The locals will defend their Fremont Relays title Friday. Harding will be seeking its fourth straight relay title. On Saturday, the locals will be entered in the strictly relay type Ohio Wesleyan Relays.

Dual meet wins over Worthington, 80-38; Ashland, 75-43; and Fostoria, 95-23; have shoved the track team in front of the state championship cross country team's mark of 31 straight wins.

Harding's broad-jumpers and 880 and mile relay teams will be out to keep their records clean in competition this year in today's meet. Frank Green, Gary Ballinger and Doug Bibler have turned in sweeps for the Prexies in the three dual meets and the relay teams each have three victories this season.

Harding's discus man, Jack Boxwell, will also be out to keep his record clean. Boxwell has won his speciality in every dual meet this year and over the week end, he won the event at the Mansfield Relays with a heave of 135 feet, 3 inches. The throw gave Harding its entire points, six, and placed

The locals are also getting set for a triangular night meet with Findlay and Fremont April 28 and the Marion Night Relays May 1.

The locals, who finished second in the district and third in the state last year, will be gunning for their third straight win in the fourth annual relays.

The ten schools in the Harding relays include three new teams: Delaware, Galion and Painesville, in addition to Harding, Bexley, Findlay, Fostoria, Tiffin, Columbian, Upper Arlington and Worthington.

A rotating trophy and a permanent trophy will be the winner's prize. A runner-up trophy will be awarded and there will be trophies for the winning 880 and mile relay teams. Medals will go to the top three men in each event and ribbons to fourth and fifth spot finishers. The individual high scoreman will receive a trophy.

Starter will be Sterling Geesman of Ohio Wesleyan, Preliminaries for the 100 and 220 yard dashes and high and low hurdles will begin at 3:30 p.m. Field events will start at 6 p.m. and finals in running events will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Teams have until April 28 to enter the relays.

Roland LaStarza
Named No. 3
Title Contender

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roland LaStarza and Dan Bucceroni jumped into the heavyweight title picture today on the strength of the National Boxing Association's spring ratings.

La Starza, a slick boxer who lost a much-disputed split decision to Champion Rocky Marciano three years ago, hopped into the No. 3 challenger spot on the basis of his victory over Rex Layne during the winter.

Bucceroni, a slugger from Philadelphia, climbed from nowhere into the No. 4 challenger position, and he claims he's ready to take on all comers.

Former Champions Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles are rated one-two behind Marciano. Walcott gets a shot at the title May 15.

Col. Harvey Miller, NBA secretary, said "the natural assumption" is that Charles will take on La Starza, with the winner getting the next crack at the title.

There were no major surprises in the NBA's spring ratings, announced yesterday. Four men were lumped in the top middleweight bracket, where a champion still is to be crowned to replace the retired Sugar Ray Robinson.

Randy Turpin of England, who took the title from Robinson once only to lose it again, is listed at the top, followed in order by Bobo Olson of Hawaii, Charles Humez of France and Paddy Young of New York.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market carried through its advance today for the second straight session.

Virtually all sections joined in the rise which extended to around a point at the best. Losses were fractional and with one or two exceptions they didn't exert any pressure in a major group.

Railroads were active and higher. Steels also were active but they presented a mixed appearance.

Those advancing included General Motors, Woolworth, Boeing, Zenith Radio, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, American Woolen, Southern Railway, Pan American World Airways, and U. S. Gypsum.

There were some losers including U. S. Steel, Goodyear, Phelps Dodge, International Paper, and Warner Bros.

Trapper's Wife Is Bored With Furs

SOUTHBURY, Conn. (UP)—Nate Evarts heaps mink at his wife's feet. He is a part-time trapper. But though she can take her pick, Mrs. Evarts prefers her 15-year-old coat made of less expensive furs.

to be two-footed. These thieves aren't looking for bait. They want the mink." Evarts said he's still about nine years old when it comes to trapping. "I'll bet there are a lot of big-city executives who'd like to be roaming the woods like I do. Can't grow old that way," he added.

York. She put the fur, she thought it was a mink.

"I don't care too much for mink, or any fur for that matter," Mrs. Evarts says. "I guess I see too much of it."

Each winter for the past 60 years, Evarts has been making the rounds of traps he sets within a 40-mile radius of his farm. If it's not mink, it's muskrat, raccoon or otter.

He recently came home with a white mink, the first he's ever caught. All of the furs he gets are sold to a company. The money he gets fills in the winter gap when farming doesn't pay off.

Evarts is 69 and has been trapping since he was nine.

His biggest trouble along the trapping line comes from animals that think they're smarter than any human. They steal the bait, but manage to keep clear of the trap's steel jaws.

"I don't mind if an animal has been smarter than I am," Evarts says. "But I do get dogged annoyed when that 'animal' happens

Insecticides Effective

Against Leaf Roller

GENEVA, N.Y. (UP)—Thanks to some recently introduced insecticides, fruit-growers are gaining the upper hand in their war on the red-banded leaf roller, which is a major pest in many orchards.

Timely data on the red-banded leaf roller was contained in a new bulletin just issued by the N. Y. Experiment Station here.

Research here has established DDD as the best antidote in combating the insect, but parathion and EPN also have produced good results.

The soil scientists advise spraying orchards about 10 days after bloom to control the first brood and another dose in late July or early August to exterminate the second brood.
